New Skirt For 1866.

The Great Invention of the Age in HOOP SKIRTS.

J. W. BRADLEY'S New Patent DUPLEX ELLIPTIC (or double) SPRING SKIRT.

THIS INVENTION consists of DUPLEX (or two) ELLIPTIC PURE REFINED STEEL SPRINGS, ingeniously braided tightly and firmly together, edge to edge, making the toughest, most flexible, elastic and durable SPRING ever used. They seldom bend or break, like the Single Spring, and consequently preserve their perfect and beautiful Shape more than twice as long as any single spring skirt that ever has or can be made.

The wonderful flexibility and great comfort experienced particularly in all crowded Assemblies, Operas, Carriages, Railroad Cars, Church Pews, Arm Chairs, for Promonade and House Dress, as the Skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a Silk or Muslin Dress.

A Lady having Enjoyed the Pleasure, Comfort and Great convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Steel Spring Skirt for a single day wil never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For Children, Misses and Young Ladies they are superior to all others.

The Hoops are covered with 2-ply double twisted thread and will wear twice as long as the single yarn covering which is used on all Single Hoop Skirts. The three bottom rods on every Skirt are also Double Steel, and twice or double covered to prevent the covering from wearing off the rods when dragging down stairs, stone steps etc., etc, which they are constantly subject to when in use.

All are made of the new and elegant Corded Tapes, and are the best quality in every part, giving to the wearer the most graceful and perfect Shape possible, and are unquestionably the lightest, most desirable, comfortable and economical Skirt ever made.

Late Papers.

LATE Richmond and New York, papers are kept for sale at the post-office.

Salisbury Dec. 11th 1865. tfd-169.

To the Citizens of North-Carolina.

The termination ot a sanguinary contest, which for the past four years has presented an impassable barrier to all social or commercial intercourse between the two great sections of our country, having at length happily cleared away all obstacles to a removal of those relations which formerly bound us together in a fraternal union, I take the earliest opportunity afforded me by this auspicious event, to greet my Southern friends, and to solicit from them a renewal of that extensive business connection which for a quarter of a century has been uninterrupted save by the great public calamity to which I have adverted.

It is scarcely necessary, on the threshold of a business re-union, I should repeat the warning so often given to my friends,—to beware of all those spurious and deleterious compounds which, under the specious and false titles of Imported Wines, Brandies, Holland Gin, Liquors, &c., have been equally destructive to the health of our citizens as prejudicial to the interests of the legitimate Importer.

Many years of my past life have been expended in an open and candid attempt to expose these wholesale frauds; no time nor expense has been spared to accomplish this salutary purpose, and to place before my friends and the public generally, at the lowest possible market price, and in such quantities as might suit their convenience, a truly genuine imported article.

Twenty-five years' business transaction with the largest and most respectable exporting houses in France and Great Britian have afforded me unsurpassed facilities for supplying our home market with Wines, Liquors, and Liqmures of the best and most approved brands in Europe, in addition to my own distillery in Holland for the manufacture of the "Schiedam Schnapps."

The latter, so long tested and approved by the medical Faculties of the United States, West Indies and South America as an invaluable Therapeutic, a wholesome, pleasaht, and perfectly safe beverage in all climates and during all seasons, quickly excited the cupidity of the home manufacturers and venders of a spurious article under the same name.

I trust that I have, after much toil and expense, surrounded all my importations with safeguards and directions which with ordinary circumspection will inshure their delivery, as I receive them from Europe, to all my customers.

I would however, recommend in all cases where it is possible, that orders be sent direct to my Depot. 22 Beaver Street, New York, or that purchases be made of my accredited agents.

In addition to a large stock of Wines, Brandies, &c. in wood, I have a considerable supply of old tried foreign wines, embraceing vintages of many past years, bottled up before the commencement of the war, which I can especialy recommended to all connaisseurs of these rare luxuries.

In conclusion, I wotld especially call the earley attention of my Southern customers to the advantage to be derived by transmitting their orders without loss of time, of time, or calling personally at the Depot, in order to inshure the fulfilment of their favors from the present large and well selected assortment.

UDOLPHO WOLFE.

Dec. 11, No. 169–3mo.

PROSPECTUS.

THE publication of the NORTH CAROLINA PRESBYTERIAN will be resumed in Fayetteville, on Weduesday 2d January next.

Confidently relying upon the hearty suport which we have heretofore received, we shall endeavor to render the paper more attractive, both in appearance and matter, than it has ever been, sparing neither pains nor expense, in the accomplishment of this purpose.

With the passing away of old things, a new spirit of activity, energy and enterprise has been infused into every department of secular thought and business. Why should not the CHURCH, also, partake of this progressive advancement? Why should she, of all the agencies, brought to bear with such tremendous force upon the civilization of the present time, be inefficient, laggard and almost hopeless, in the working out of her own destiny?

To arouse the CHURCH to the importance and necessity of WORK: of unceasing, restless, tireless energy in the service of her Master and Head; this shall be our first and chiefest aim. In this we need assistance. We are not alone, sufficient for these things. Our brethren must help us in every way; contributions from their own stores of thought and study; by zealous co-operation in a common cause for the benefit of all; by extending our circulation throughout all our borders, and thus giving us both the means and the opportunity of performing well the work to which we have consecrated all that we have, and all that we hope for on the earth.

LET US HOPE FOR THE BEST.

Depression is the frequent effect of a failure to accomplish that for which we have labored assiduously and which we had every reason, as it seemed to us, to believe, ought to have proved successful. The present condition of affairs, we are confident, are not the result of our teachings. From the very first we strived always, and with all the earnestness of our nature, to inculcate the idea that the late war, was something more than a big fight or sudden quarrel, that there was a deep philosophy underlying it, which on the one hand exempted the Northman from the charge of vandalism, on the other exempted us in the South from the charge of treason. That it was the result of various causes combined, all tending toward one focus. Viewing the matter in this light, we were not disposed to make a personal matter of it, but to treat the War in its inauguration, its conduct and its end as a fate; as something we could neither forsee nor prevent. We urged submission; we urged the re-unity of all old parties, upon the Platform of the Union, for the future. We urged the election of acceptable and eligible candidates; we have at all times urged conciliation and cordial acceptance of that course of conduct so necessary to our gaining re-admission into the fraternity of States. We predicted plainly two days before the election, the effect of a contrary course; we then stated that we should be gratified in case our predictions should not be verified. And we should have been. Every prediction we have made has been fulfilled. Our members of Congress "stood aside" for the present if not indefinitly, and the question of re-construction left for further deliberation. We should have fully expected this and could have had no cause to murmer but for the telegram of the President intimating that the adoption of the constitutional amendment might heal all difficulties. This we were the first to advocate; it was adopted almost unanimously, and the next thing we hear, is the non-recognition of any of our members (so-called)—even those who could take the oath prescribed by the Act of Congress. Under the shock of this sudden and (after the President's telegram) unexpected event, it was but natural that we should feel chafed, and being among the very few Journalists at the South who seem to appreciate that boon the liberty of the Press, we always write what we think, feel, believe or know and do not use language "to hide ideas." There are some few chamilions doubtless who were in hopes that the U. S. officers would suppress our paper, but we feel too secure in the integrity of of our position and that the same is appreciated. We have battled manfully, fearlessly and without hope of reward from the Constitution and the Union of the States thereunder, and we feel satisfied that they are too magnanimous to let all our endeavors go for nothing, because we may say an occasional sharp thing. The men who oppose us could never be trusted by us in our war, though they pretended to be friends, and we feel very sure that the United States will have a strong enough party without such Vicars of Bray. Pardon the digression. We can look at the matter in a more cheerful aspect than we did in first blush. The Congress may feel that it was an insult to send as Representatives men who had been in the Confederate Congress. some high in our military service, and one at least who had not been pardoned. It looked perhaps to them as if we intended by such elections to declare that a man could not have been a Union man and an honest man. And further we learn that Messrs. Wilson and Sumner does not express the well-considered opinion of the North. It is suggested that Congress in refering the question to a Committee simply mean in the language of Mr, Colfax to make haste slowly, or in the langnage of Davy Crocket, "first be sure you'r right—then go ahead." We sincerely trust so and we, resting upon that hope, do recommend that we wait our time with patience. We prefer looking at the bright side of the picture, and if these prognostications should be realized, we shall give thanks for this as many other blessings and comforts which surround us.

North Carolina Legislature.

SENATE.

Tuesday, December 5.

Senate called to order. Prayer by Elder Thos. Skinner, of the Baptist church.

The Senator from Transylvania introduced a resolution relative to freedmen, which was referred to the judiciary committee.

Mr. Warren, from the committee on the judiciary, made the following report:

They are of opinion that the General Assembly has not, much less the liberty, the right to declare vacant a seat in the Senate of the United States—that body being the final and sole judge in the premises. But they assume that the principles of the common law in relation to the forfeiture of offices by abandonment or non-user, are recognized by the government of the United States as they are by the government of this State. Proceeding upon this assumption, it is clear that the Hon. T. L. Clingman, who was elected Senator from the term commencing on the 4th day of March, 1861, and ending on the 3rd day of March, 1867, is not now entitled to claim a seat in the Federal Congress by virtue of that election, whether he was ever admitted thereto or not. If he was admitted thereto, as the committee are informed he was, his seat is vacant by his voluntary withdrawal therefrom. If he was not admitted, it is vacant by his failure for more than four years to apply for admission or to attempt to exercise the functions of his office. Nor is the fact to be overlooked that during this time Mr. Clingman has been in armed hostility to the Government of the United States, whose officer he was. His acts are unequivocal evidences of his intention to abandon all connection with that government.

The committee are informed, and are confident that the information is correct, that the Senate of the United States has passed upon the question, and that the members thereof from this State were expelled under the authority conferred upon each branch of the National Legislature by sec. 5, article 1, of the Constitution. They, therefore, believe it to be duty of this General Assembly to fill the vacancy thus created; and they report the accompanying resolution as embodying their views, and recommend its adoption:

Resolved, That, in the opinion of the Senate, the seat of the Hon. Thomas L. Clingman in the Senate of the United States, is vacant; and that it is the duty of the General Assembly to fill such vacancy.

Mr. Howard said, as he introduced the resolution, he wished to say a few words in explanation. The question depended upon the action of the Senate of the United States, and having no information as to what the action of that body had been, the Senator from Mecklenburg and himself had concluded that the introduction of the resolution was the proper step to procure it. The resolution was introduced after the Senate had intimated its intention to adjourn, and it was well known that the committee would report this morning. The Senator from Mecklenburg and himself attended the meeting of the committee and concurred in the report and resolution. It was, therefore, evident that the resolution was not introduced for delay or to set up any claim for Mr. Clingman, but simply to be satisfied of the fact that a vacancy existed, as in that contingency only could we constitutionally elect; and yet, with the usual eagerness to misrepresent his action, it was this morning represented as his purpose to be in opposition, aye, factious opposition to the administration of President Johnson, and that he was encouraging a disloyal sentiment in the State. Mr. H. said those that made this charge were either so blind from prejudice and spleen that they could not see, or they uttered what they knew to be untrue for personal or party purposes. He noticed the charge for the first and last time. He was conscious of his own good faith to the government and he neither approved nor would he follow the course of those who stood ready to defame any portion of the people of the State. He believed they were all loyal and their character would ultimately stand vindicated before the nation. He had heretofore acted, and he should continue hereafter to act, while representing his constituency, a freeman representing freemen.

Mr. Ferrebee said as he had participated in the discussion on yesterday, it was due to himself to make a brief statement. He did not say yesterday, nor does he believe now that the Hon. Thomas L. Clingman is entitled to his seat in the Senate of the United States. No one who heard his remarks believes he entertains such a thought. Every Senator remembers that the argument was hypothetical. It gave some annoyance to answer it, and he chose to use it. For his acts on this floor he is answerable alone to his country, his God and his conscience. He professed to be as true and loyal to the government as those who find it so convenient, because he did not submit to certain dictation, to repeat their oft denied charges of factious opposition. He had no ends to subserve but those of his country, his God and truth. He did not admit the right of those gentlemen who are daily and nightly running from door to door to frighten timid men, to decree what shall be his political faith or course of action. All here know he never favored the doctrine of secession; he intended in good faith and true loyalty to support President Johnson's policy in restoring North Carolina to her civil relations with the United States, and doing so he should claim the right of a freeman to exercise his best judgment as to the proper mode to be pursued.

The report of the committee with accompanying resolution, was then unanimously concurred in.

The Senate then proceeded to vote for a United States Senator, when Hon. John received 24; W N H Smith 7; Thomas Ashe 17 votes.

Mr Ferrebee introduced a resolution inquiring of the Secretary of State as to the missing public records.

Senator from Rutherfordton, introduced a resolution in relation to the State library.

The Senator from Transylvania introduced a bill to amend the charter of the Little River Turnpike company, which was referred to the committee on Internal Improvements.

The committee to superintend an election for Solicitor for the sixth judicial circuit, reported, that no one having received a majority of the votes cast, there was no elect on Senate then adjourned until to-morrow 11 o'clock.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Tuesday, December 5.

The Speaker called the House to order. Prayer by the Rev. Calvin H. Wiley, of the Presbyterian Church.

Mr. Jenkins, of Warren, arose to a personal explanation. He said an article had appeared in the Standard newspaper this morning which misrepresented him in the remarks made by him, in the House on Monday. He said that he did not say, on Monday, that the application of Mr. Graham for pardon had never met the eye of the President; but, that, if he had been correctly informed it had not met, &c., that he had had a conversation with Dr. Powell, the Agent for the State at Washington, who had stated the routine of applications, which explanation Mr. J. repeated; that the President was aware of the application, &c. He said there was, at last, no difference, substantially, between his statement yesterday and the facts in the case. Mr. J. complained of the strictures of the Standard; admitted that it had a right to comment on public men and public measures, but in doing this, it ought to keep itself within the bounds of decency. Mr. J. did not deny that he was a secessionist and in favor of the Confederacy, during the war; but that he was now loyal to the government and disposed to do all he could for the peaceable restoration of the State to the Federal Union.

Mr. Manly from the Judiciary committee reported back a bill in regard to the public records in the county of Burke, with an amendment. [This bill was afterward passed the several readings under a suspension of the rules, and ordered to be engrossed.]

A message was received from the Senate transmitting engrossed resolutions in favor of Gov. Z. B. Vance.

Mr. Waugh, of Surry, stated that he was confident that no member in the House was more utterly opposed to the course of Governor Vance whilst acting as Governor of the State, particularly towards the close of his term, than he was, yet he was confidant that no member of the House would vote for the resolutions under consideration with more pleasure than himself, and he hoped that the vote upon them would be unanimous,

Upon the passage of these resolutions, Mr. Russell demanded the yeas nays, and the same being ordered, resulted yeas 97, nays 13.

A message was also received concurring in the proposition to go into the election of Attorney General, and the House proceeded to vote under the superintendence of Messrs. Page and Webb as follows:

TELEGRAPHIC.

From Washington.

Washington, Dec. 6.—The Republican members of the Senate met in caucus this afternoon to consider the Stevens resolution. The matter was not brought to a vote, but an exchange of opinions took place. Objections were made, not so much to the spirit, as to the form of the resolution, upon the ground, first, that the resolution, passed in its present form, would be a public law, and require the approval of the President; and second, that it would render the admission of members in either House dependent upon the concurrence of the other, which would be derogatory to the constitutional priviliges of either. It is believed that the resolution will not pass the Senate in its present form, but that there will be no doubt of its passage when so modified as to obviate the above objections. The caucus adjourned until Monday next, when it will re-assemble for the consideration of the same subject. The resolution, in a modified form, will probably pass next week.

Universal Suffrage in the House.

The only feature of to-day's session of Congress was the refusal of the House to sustain the previous question on the resolutions of Farnsworth, of Illinois, declaring the sense of the House in favor of universal suffrage. The vote was forty-two for to sixty-eight against sustaining the previous question, so as to prevent the House from coming to a direct vote on the main question. It is hardly regarded, however, as a fair test, as the vote was by no means full.

Black Suffrage in the District.

The Radicals of the Senate carried their point in arranging the Committee on the District of Columbia so as to secure any measure they choose to bring forward giving the negroes the right of suffrage. A bill of this character has already been framed, and will be reported at the proper time. It will be stoutly resisted by the conservatives of both parties.

Constitutional Amendment.

The success of the anti-slavery Constitutional Amendments seemed to have inspired further attempts in the same direction, and four amendments of that instrument have already been proposed, viz: making the number of voters in each State the basis of representation in Congress; annulling the provision against export duties; prohibiting the payment of the rebel debt; and securing to all persons equal protection and the rights of liberty and life.

Claims of "Loyal" citizens for Damages

A Senator to-day gives as his estimate that the amount of claims for damages to loyal citizens and claims of loyal States growing out of the war, would reach the sum of three hundred million dollars.—Doubtless this is a somewhat exaggerated estimate, but the sum will probably reach two hundred millions dollars. Claims of this character are received with caution by Congressmen, and they are backwark about establishing a precedent for the recovery of such damages, as they are susceptible of the practice of immense frauds, and there is no certainty as to when the end will be reached, nor to what huge sum the claims may be swollen.

MISAPREHENSION.

We learn with surprise that our remarks in Thursdays issue about those who are thankful &c., were construed as embracing gentlemen of the U. S. Army, or other northern men. Such was not the meaning, as they could with great appropriateness give thanks, it was intended for the class we have pointed out as so-called Union men resident South, and not intended for "straits" or Northern gentlemen sojourning among us. By reference to the context of the New Testament, where the passage is found, it will be seen that there would be no point if applied to the latter. We have always been careful in our allusions to northern gentlemen to be explicit even to the coining of a word.

It would have been utterly repugnant to our nature and feelings to have levelled such remarks at gentlemen we esteem so highly as Col. Packard and many others of the U. S. A. whose acequaintance has been mutually pleasant and whose friendship we prize.

☞ The Little Fairy, seventeen years old, and weighing only twenty-three pounds, has arrived in Salisbury, and may be visited at the City Hall, at 7 o'clock to-night.

FARMING IMPLEMENTS.

We call the attention of farmers to the advertisement of Messrs. Budd & Sharpe, which appears in to-day's paper.

It will be seen that the excellent firm of Messrs. Bridgford & Myers, at Richmond, Va., are agents for the sale of such farming implements, &c., here advertised as may be desired, which affords a favorable opportunity to all who may be in want of them, as Messrs. Bridgford & Myers are known to be gentlemen who give prompt attention to all business entrusted to them.

NATURE'S FURNITURE

PROPOSALS FOR CARRYING THE MAILS.

We publish below proposals for carrying the mails weekly to the County seats of this State, until the first of January next. We trust that persons who may be disposed to make proposals will do so at once, as mails are very much needed. We learn that ten dollars per mile will be allowed for this temporary service. The post offices on the various lines will be supplied, and it is desirable that postmasters be appointed at once. Proposals for any of these routes, and nominations for Postmasters, may be addressed to Gov Holden, to be forwarded by him to Washington. Persons who may propose to carry the mails must offer the necessary evidence that they will comply with their contracts; and nominations for Postmasters must be endorsed by loyal men, known to the Governor. Females may act as Postmasters, and there is no objection to appionting them.

The advertisement for the regular mail service in this State will appear soon.

We learn that the granting of this special temporary mail service is due to the indefatigable exertions of Dr. R. J. Powell, the State Agent in Washington, aided by W. S. Mason and W. J. Palmer, Esqr's. of this city. We believe that no such favor has been extended to any other State.

Your obedient servant,

To the People of the South!

THE OLD

"EXAMINER" REVIVED!!

The undersigned, having purchased its good will and subscription books, proposes to revive, at an early day, the old Richmond Examiner, of which the late John M. Daniel was editor-in-chief, and the undersigned his constant associate for the entire period of the war.

It is believed that the public will recognize an appropriate and practical idea in this enterprise.—Efforts to revive other papers in the South are announced, and it is certainly neither a visionary nor unworthy endeavour for the literary associates of a gallant spirit that now sleeps in the grave to essay honour to his memory and a service to the public by reviving the old Examiner newspaper, so long the ornament of Southern letters, an example at once of the scholarship and chivalry of Virginia; and perhaps the only school in the South of pure and classick English distinct from the models and redeemed from the innovations of Northern instructors.

The fame of the old Richmond Examiner reached to the most distant parts of the world. The paper was well known in Europe. It was pronounced by a distinguished Northern politician "the best exponent of the civilization of the South." It was a school of literary scholarship for the youth of the South; the glass of Southern chivalry; an example of independence, of courage, of iron spirit in newspaper literature, which its chief illustrated in his own noble and severe life, and defended more than once on the field of honor, when the undersigned stood with in the vindication of the freedom of the press.

Surely there are many people in the South who will unite in an effort to revive a newspaper which was an ornament to its literature and a school for its virtues. The task is an ambitious one. But the undersigned attempts it in no mean or flagging spirit. He has already undertaken to marshal a corps of the old writers for the Examiner; he will be able to reproduce its typographical features, and present to Southern readers a fac simile of their old acquaintance; and he fervently trusts and resolutely pledges every resource of intellect and will to breathe again in this form of material resurrection the same spirit of fearless criticism, chivalrous contest and unhesitating encounter with abuse that animated it of old.

The undersigned owns some pledges of affection in this enterprise. His relations with the late John M. Daniel was close, intimate and affectionate to the day of his death. And it will indeed be a labor and aspiration of love if he can produce some echo from the grave of lamented friendship and rekindle from the ashes of the past and the dead some of the fire that illuminated the familiar pages of our literature.

In the present uncertainty of political questions—the dissappointment of oid issues and the imperfect development of the new—it would, of course, be impossible to state with precision the political career of the Examiner. But this may be said with safety; that it will use all its influence in restoring order, tranquility and prosperity to the people; and while aspiring to be brave and independent, it will avoid every scheme of faction and disorganization, devote itself to the works of conservatism, and sustain, at every risk, the present President of the United States as long as he fulfills those noble indications he has already given of planting again the rights of constitutional liberty in the South, setting his face against the Malignants of the North, and thus entitling himself to such common support of conservative men in all parts of the country as will secure the continuation of his wise and patriotic administration.

No pains or expense will be spared to make the Examiner the newspaper of the South. For every department of it the services of the most accomplished and active writers will be secured. Special correspondents will be posted in New York and Washington and other important centres of intelligence in the country. A former active editor of the old Examiner, Edward A. Pollard, will be employed as correspondent from Europe in which country he proposes to write a History of the War, and to form a familiar acquaintance with the politics of Europe, especially in connection with American questions and topicks. This correspondence will constitute a special feature of interest in our paper; it will enliven its columns from week to week with the productions of an animated pen; and it will afford our readers a singularly good opportunity to make themselves acquainted with cotemporary Europe, and to apprehend the growing interest of our foreign relations.

The undersigned was recently the editor of the Richmond Times, but in consequence of a disagreement with the part proprietor of that paper, he has been forced to leave it and appeal to the civil courts for his rights; and he now proposes to himself the nobler task of reviving a paper endeared to the South by many memories of the past, and associated with so much that is admirable in its heroick and literary name in history. He calls upon the old subscribers of the Examiner, from Virginia to Texas, to rally to its support, to renew their subscriptions, and to assist in the revival of a paper which has existed for three-quarters of a century, and which has ever been solicitous to honor truth and virtue, prompt to chastise abuses, and ambitious to defend and adorn the civilization and literature of the South.

Advertisements will be inserted on the same terms as published by the other Richmond papers.

The first number of the Examiner will contain a sketch of the life of the late John M. Daniel, whose name is historical in connection with the Virginia press, and than whom the annals of newspaper literature in America show few more extraordinary men—certainly no greater master of vigor and satire in composition. The first numbers will also contain a full and complete account of the evacuation of Richmond, with all the particulars of the surrender of the city, the entry of the troops, the great conflagration, &c., taken from the advance sheets of E. A. Pollard's "Fourth Year of the War," now in press. This account will be found intensely interesting; and aside from this consideration, every one should secure and preserve these numbers, as they will be valuable hereafter as affording a true and faithful report of what the South has had hitherto but the imperfect narratives which have been written and published in the Northern press.

The old contributors and correspondents of the Examiner are particularly requested to communicate with the undersigned.

All letters and communications of every character should be addressed to

H. RIVES POLLARD,
Richmond, Va.

Wanted, an Agent in every town in Virginia and all the Southern States.

Also, immediately, twenty active and enterprising men to travel and canvass for the paper—a fine chance for men out of employment. H. R. P.

NOTICE.
MODEL SEWING MACHINE.

(From the New York Herald)

Prominent among the mechanical triumphs of this most ingenious age, common honesty compels us to notice the Empire Sewing Machine, commended as justly styled perfection itself. Useful as have been the various sewing machines, from time to time presented to the public, each one of them has been cursed with some radical defect, which detracts from general utility. Warned by the experience of his predecessors, the inventor of the Empire Machine has produced an instrument, combining all the advantages for which others are vaunted, and obviating every defect which can be attributed to them by the most fastidious critic.

The Empire Machine is a marvellous combination of simplicity, economy and perfect workmanship, being durable, free from liability to get out of order, noiseless, and easy of, operation. Its mechanical contrivance is such as to secure stability, freedom from accident, and accuracy as to workmanship. By the use of the patented shuttle and straight needle, it makes a stitch, which can neither rip nor ravel, at the same time, it can operate perfectly upon every species of material from leather to cambric, with threads of cotton, linen or silk, from the finest to the coarsest number.

As the Empire Machine is gradually supplanting its more antique rivals, no one in want of a useful instrument of this description, be he or she tailor, coachmaker, dressmaker or seamstress, can do otherwise than secure one of these economical and invaluable machines, suited alike for family and manufacturing purposes. The office of the Empire Manufacturing Co. is at No. 536 Broadway, New York City, where they are now supplying these Empire Machines a prices far below the real value of the instrument.—New York Herald.
